For the holiday weekend, we wanted to provide you with a few more ways to have fun. The following sites allow you to play and download classic and retro games such as DOS games, classic adventure games, and old console games. Anonymous Game Developers (AGD) Interactive AGD Interactive is a game development group that has committed to bringing back classic adventure games by remaking the classic Sierra Online adventure games such as King's Quest. They remastered them with enhanced graphics, polished dubbing, and more, and now offer them as free downloads. They also have a commercial adventure gaming company called Himalaya Studios. VirtualNES VirtualNES offers hundreds of vintage Nintendo Entertainment System (NES) games that you can play online. They also offer some special games such as unlicensed games by enterprising developers, unpublished games that have been left unfinished, and excellent home games by people who love video games and have decided to make their own. The NES brought the console game home back to life when it came out. Nintendo8.com Nintendo9.com offers hundreds of classic 8-bit Nintendo games from the 1980s and early 1990s available for online gaming. It's a link site that doesn't really host roms. All linked games on the site are considered abandonware or copyleft. The games use the vNES emulator from the VirtualNES website mentioned above. They also have some brothers sites that offer other classic console games that you can play online. Snessy (SNES games) c64i (Commodore 64 games) DOSDose (DOS games) MasterSystem8 (SEGA games) GBemul (Gameboy games) DOSBox DOSBox offers a complete DOS environment that runs old DOS applications on Windows, Mac OS X, Linux and other UNIX-like operating systems. It emulates an Intel x86 PC, with sound, graphics, mouse, joystick, etc. needed to run many old DOS games that cannot run on modern operating systems. They also offer frontends for DOSBox, such as d-Fend Reloaded (discussed below), to make it easier to use DOSBox. See our article for more information about using DOSBox. D-Fend Reloaded D-Fend Reloaded is a graphical environment, or frontend, for DOSBox. Installing and configuring DOSBox can be tricky. The D-Fend Reloaded installation package includes DOSBox, so there is only one installation to run. You don't need to install DOSBox manually first before installing D-Fend Reloaded. The download page also has links to games available. You can also download PacPC, Ms. PacPC, and PC-Bert, which are clones of PacMan, Ms. PacMan and Q-Bert. For more information about installing and using D-Fend Reloaded, see our article on this. MAME (Multiple Arcade Machine Emulator) MAME is a non-profit project whose goal is to preserve many historical games from so they don't disappear when the hardware on which they run stops working. To play games on MAME, you must provide the original ROMs, CDs or hard drives of arcade machines. There is no original original code within the executable MAME. There are also frontends for MAME (available at the link above) that make it easy to use, or you can use MAMEUI, which is a desktop-oriented front-end gui for MAME. See our article on playing classic arcade games on your PC for more information about MAME and MAMEUI. Some game developers have released some of their games for free, which you can download from the MAME developer site. Abandonia Abandonia offers classic abandonware games for download for DOS. Abandonware games are discontinued game programs for which no product support is available and whose copyright has expired. Abandonware DOS Abandonware Games offers a large selection of abandonware DOS games that are no longer supported by anyone. You can download games in categories like action, racing, RPG and strategy. Almost all RGB Classic Games games were originally distributed commercially, except for some shareware games that were extremely good. RGB Classic Games focus on quality, not quantity and they also try to include each version of each game listed on the site. From the site: The highest ideals of this site are to support the authors by providing links to their websites and ordering information for the full versions of the games that are still sold, and encourage the authors of classic games to preserve their games for future generations by making them available for sale or as freeware. If you like a shareware game, please consider buying it from the author. All RGB Classic Games are freely because they are shareware, freeware or because the copyright holder has officially and legally released all rights into the public domain (abandonware). They are shareware, freeware, playable demos, and full versions of games that are released as freeware or into the public domain. They also have many forums dedicated to the discussion of games, a blog and a section My Games, where you can log in and find all your active games. They also offer some old games for purchase that are still being sold at reasonable prices. You have to download each game to your computer, but the game happens in your browser.
